

Dear [REDACTED]

Thank you for your request for environmental information. We appreciate your interest, and we want to let you know that your request has been carefully considered in accordance with the Environmental Information Regulations (EIR).

Your request:

In line with information required for a permit application from the environment agency, please can I have the following information.

- a) Which sewage treatment works does the wastewater from [REDACTED] go to for treatment?
Full address - [REDACTED]
- b) What is the latest Average raw sewage flow rate through this treatment works (cubic metres per day)?
- c) Is sewage sludge from that treatment works disposed of by incineration? – if yes, please identify which incinerator.

Our response:

Having liaised with our local Wastewater (Ww) Team, I can confirm that the sewage from [REDACTED] is treated at Huyton Wastewater Treatment Works (WwTW).

Additionally, the team have confirmed that the average raw sewage flow rate (based on an 11-month average), is 19,417 m³d.

Finally, I can confirm that sludge from Huyton WwTW is not disposed of via incineration, this is instead tankered to either a digestion or dewatering site for further processing. If it goes through the digestion site, it is treated and sent to land. If it goes through dewatering, it will either then be taken to the digestion site to go through the aforementioned process, or will be taken to land restoration as raw cake.
